Letters from Europe—Salisbury not taken!
The steamship Africa has arrived at New York, from Liverpool, with later European news. Sebastopol has not been taken, and the announcement, with all its details, turns out to be a hoax, which has deceived not merely the public, but the governments of France and England. The battle of Alma and the route of the Russians there is true, but all else is false; including the destruction of the Russian fleet, the blowing up of Fort Constantine, Menschikoff's surrender, and Omar Pacha's alleged dispatch. The forged news were so ingeniously made up as to have deceived everybody. Fighting continued uninterrupted, and Sebastopol was, at the last dates, formally invested. On the 27th the allied forces were on the river Balaclava, ten miles from Sebastopol. On the 28th they established their basis of operations at Balaklava, and prepared to march upon the city. The allied fleet was in port at Balaklava, and was in communication with the land forces.—The latest dispatch says that the allies command the approach to Sebastopol, which may be considered as invested, and that a doubtful rumor prevailed that the second line of defense had been carried. The fortifications of Amapa have been burned by the Russians, and the garrison was marching to the scene of action. Austria intimates that she will consider the Czar's prolonged refusal of the four conditions as a causus beli.

ONE OF THE GALS.—The Toledo Republican says that a German woman went into Scott's hardware store, a few morning since, bought a cooking stove, and placing it on her head, deliberately marched off with it. If she's not married, the re's a woman for you, boys.
